A. INTRODUCTION

RTX respects the legitimate privacy interests of the people from whom it Processes Personal Information, such as its directors, officers, employees, contractors, customers, suppliers, and vendors.

RTX has adopted Binding Corporate Rules (“BCRs”) for the Personal Information that it Processes about Individuals. United Technologies EU (“RTX EU”)¹ is the Lead Affiliate and, in coordination with the RTX Corporate Office (the U.S. headquarters), has responsibility for remedying breaches of the BCRs.

Exhibit A provides definitions for terms and acronyms used in these BCRs.

RTX transfers Personal Information including human resources information (employees and leased labor); business contact information for business customers, suppliers, vendors, sales representatives, and other business partners; information from consumers of RTX products, generally limited information, such as name and address and credit card data; information on visitors and non-employee sales representatives and distributors; and information collected on the use of RTX products and services by users of those products and services. Personal Information is transferred within RTX depending on the products and services provided and the support required for particular services or projects. The bulk of Personal Information is transferred to the RTX Corporate Office, located in the U.S.

B. APPLICABILITY

1. These BCRs are mandatory for RTX’s Corporate Office and the Operating Businesses that have executed the Intra-Group Agreement. These entities shall ensure that their Personnel comply with these BCRs when Processing an Individual’s Personal Information. RTX will establish clear and consistent controls across the enterprise to ensure compliance with the BCRs.
2. At a minimum, RTX will comply with all laws and regulations related to the protection of Personal Information applicable to it worldwide. Provisions of local laws, regulations, and other restrictions applicable to RTX that impose a higher level of data protection shall have precedence over the BCRs. If applicable law conflicts with these BCRs in that it might prevent RTX’s Corporate Office or one or more Operating Businesses from fulfilling their obligations under the BCRs and has a substantial effect on the guarantees provided therein, the entity concerned shall promptly notify the RTX Chief Privacy Officer (“RTX CPO”), except where providing such information is prohibited by a law enforcement authority or law. The RTX CPO, in cooperation with the Privacy Advisory

3. These BCRs also apply to Operating Businesses and to the Corporate Office when they Process an Individual's Personal Information on behalf of other RTX entities. The Processing entities must be bound by the Internal Processing Clauses set out in Exhibit B to these BCRs.
4. In case of a conflict between these BCRs and Corporate Policy Manual Section 24, these BCRs prevail for Personal Information originating directly or indirectly from the European Economic Area or Switzerland.

C. SCOPE

These BCRs govern the Processing by RTX of Personal Information of Individuals wherever located, except that (i) the requirement to obtain explicit consent for Sensitive Personal Information, (ii) the provisions contained in Section D.6, paragraphs 1 through 6 regarding the enforcement rights of individuals and guarantees, (iii) Section B.4 relating to discrepancies between the BCRs and Corporate Manual Section 24, (iv) the requirements of D.1(d); and (v) the part of Section D.1(f) relating to sharing of data with law enforcement and regulatory authorities, shall only apply to Personal Information originating directly or indirectly from the European Economic Area, the United Kingdom or Switzerland.

Individuals may be required to provide proof of their identity and may be subject to a servicing fee as permitted by applicable law.

Individuals may object to the Processing of their Personal Information or request the blocking or erasure of their Personal Information. RTX will comply with such requests, unless retention of Personal Information is required by contractual obligations, audit requirements, regulatory or legal obligations, or to defend the company against legal claims. Individuals will be informed of the consequences that may arise as a result of their choice to have RTX not Process their Personal Information, such as the inability of RTX to provide employment, a requested service or enter into a transaction. Individuals will also be informed about the outcome of their request.

With the exception of those Individuals who have elected not to receive certain communications and in accordance with applicable law, RTX may Process Individuals' Personal Information to target communications to Individuals based on their interests. Individuals who do not wish to receive marketing communications from RTX will be offered easily accessible means to oppose further advertising, for example, in their account settings or by following the directions provided in an email or from a link in the communication. When in doubt about the application of anti-spam regulations, please contact privacy.compliance@utc.com.
